Background about BEIS

What we do:

The department brings together responsibilities for business, industrial strategy, science, innovation, energy and climate change.

What we are responsible for:

- Business and enterprise: cementing the UK's position as the best place in Europe to start and grow a business – by supporting local growth, and making it easier for businesses to resolve disputes quickly and easily.
- Competitiveness: developing a long term industrial strategy, supporting competitive markets, cutting red tape and protecting intellectual property.
- Science and innovation: ensuring that the UK is the best place in Europe to innovate, maintaining our world leading research and science base to deliver growth and productivity while reforming the system to maximise value from our investments.
- Labour markets: helping Britain move to a higher wage, lower tax, lower welfare society, tackling illegal practices in the workplace, implementing reform or trade union law, and dealing with abuse of the minimum wage.
- A reliable and resilient energy system: ensuring security of energy supply that families and businesses can rely on, now and in the future. This includes working across the oil, gas and electricity sectors to make sure the UK has a well-functioning, competitive and resilient energy system, and sufficient capacity to meet the needs of energy users in the years ahead.
- Energy bills: keeping bills as low as possible for hard working families and businesses.
- International climate change and cost effective carbon reduction at home: taking action on climate change alongside international partners to safeguard our long term economic and national security and meeting our national carbon target of at least 80% emissions reduction by 2050 through efficient procurement of low carbon generation and otherwise in ways that keeps the cost of action as low as possible, to ensure value for money for our families and businesses.
- UK energy legacy: managing the legacy of our energy industries sustainably and responsibly. This means discharging legal liabilities effectively and managing the security risks from the legacies of our nuclear and coal industries, and other energy liabilities.

Please note that only fully completed application forms will be considered in our selection process. Unless specifically requested, CVs will not be accepted.

Equal Opportunity and Diversity Information

BEIS is committed to providing services which embrace diversity and which promote equality of opportunity. As an employer, it is also committed to equality and valuing diversity within the workforce. Its goal is to ensure that these commitments, reinforced by its values, are embedded in its day-to-day working practices with all its customers, colleagues and partners.

BEIS is a diversity friendly employer and welcomes applications from all sections of the community. It does not discriminate on the basis of age, disability, gender, marital status, sexual orientation, religion or belief, race, colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin, working pattern, employment status, gender identity (transgender), caring responsibility or trade union membership.

BEIS is committed to providing equal opportunities for all candidates during the selection process, to enable us to select staff from a diverse pool of talent. Part of that commitment is that we guarantee an interview to any candidate who has a disability, as defined by the Equality Act 2010, and declares their disability in their application, provided that they meet the minimum (essential eligibility) criteria for the post(s) in question, as set out in the job advertisement and this document.

The Equality Act 2010 defines a person as being disabled if they have a physical or mental impairment which has a substantial and long-term effect on their ability to carry out normal day to day activities.

In order to avoid any biases from occurring, BEIS operate on a blind sift process. Personal details are removed at sift stage and are only made available to the panel once a decision has been made on which persons should be invited to an interview.
Selection Process

There are normally two stages to the recruitment process. The first stage is a sift, which identifies applicants who appear from the information provided in their application to be best suited to the role’s requirements. Those who go through the sift stage will be invited to an interview.

In order to avoid any biases from occurring, BEIS operate on a blind sift process. Personal details are removed at sift stage and are only made available to the panel once a decision has been made on which persons should be invited to an interview.

Interviews usually last for approximately 40 to 60 minutes and candidates may be required to give a presentation or partake in other assessments. Candidates who pass the required standard for the role may be placed on a reserve list should the successful candidate decide not to take up the appointment or whereby further opportunities arise in the near future. Candidates will be kept on a reserve list for no more than 6 months.

Terms of Appointment

The job profile will detail the type of appointment (loan, permanent or fixed term) in addition to the working pattern including whether the role is being advertised at full or part time.

Civil servants recruited via fair and open competition are eligible to apply for posts advertised at stages 1-3 (internally and across Civil Service).

Staff on fixed term appointments or those joining on a loan should ensure they have prior approval from their home department before they apply for a role at BEIS.

Please note that where former Civil Servants are recruited through fair and open competition, the Department will not consider applications for re-instatement. Re-instatement is an exception where fair and open competition has not proved successful or is not deemed appropriate. Those applying from agencies, NDPBs (non-departmental public bodies) or any other bodies should check their status with their own HR Department prior to making an application. Crown or public servants (i.e. not civil servants) will be treated as new entrants to the Civil Service and any previous service and other entitlements may not be transferable.

Remuneration

The salary range for the role you are applying for will be detailed on the job profile. For existing Civil Servants, if successful, their salary on appointment would normally be determined by applying the Cabinet Office salary progression roles. If appointment is on level transfer the salary will remain unchanged, unless the successful candidate’s current salary is below the relevant BEIS grade minimum. If the appointment is on temporary or substantive promotion, the successful candidate’s salary will be increased by 10% or the minimum of the relevant BEIS grade, whichever is greater. Specialist pay enhancements or allowance paid by other departments are not transferable to BEIS. The exception to this rule is the London weighting allowance where the exporting department does not have a separate London pay scale.

New entrants into the Civil service are appointed at the pay scale minimum for the grade.
Pre-appointment Enquiries

If successful at interview, BEIS is required to carry our pre-appointment checks to ensure that the successful candidate is qualified for the appointment. These include; identification, nationality, character and security. The post recruited for will require you to undergo Baseline Personnel Security Standard (BPSS) checks and the relevant required level of security clearance. This will be either the Counter Terrorist checks (CTC), Security clearance (SC) or Developed vetting (DV). The level required for the role will be detailed in the job profile. Please note that the department the candidate has been offered a role in will be required to carry out the additional clearance.

The BPSS is a basic recruitment check to verify your identity and nationality. It seeks to prevent identity fraud, illegal working and deception. It requires the presentation of personal documentation, completion of a character enquiry questionnaire and the receipt of employment or educational reference covering the past three years. As part of the security clearance process, you will be asked to complete a security questionnaire which will explain the governement’s vetting policy.

Appointments will be on a conditional basis pending the outcome of successful clearance.

Probation Period

In addition to pre appointment enquiries, you will normally be required to serve a six month probation period. If you are an existing civil servant and have successfully completed a probation period only pre-appointment enquiries will apply.

Legislative and Statutory Commission Requirements and Complaints

BEIS’s recruitment processes are underpinned by the principle of selection for appointment on merit on the basis of fair and open competition as outlined in the Civil Service Commissions recruitment principles issued by the Civil Service Commission. This can be found at www.civilservicecommission.org.uk.

What BEIS Expects from You

Civil Service Code

The Civil Service provisions of the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act 2010 places the Civil Service values on a statutory footing and includes the publication of a Civil Service Code. The Civil Service Code sets out the core Civil Service values and standards of behaviour expected of all civil servants in upholding these values. The Civil Service is an integral and key part of the Government of the United Kingdom. It supports the Government of the day in developing and implementing its policies, and in delivering public services. Civil servants are accountable to Ministers, who in turn are accountable to Parliament. If appointed as a civil servant (either on a permanent or fixed term basis), you are appointed on merit on the basis of fair and open competition and are expected to carry out your role with dedication and a commitment to the Civil Service and its core values:

- integrity
- honesty
- objectivity
- impartiality

The Civil Service code is available at www.civilservice.gov.uk/about/values/index.aspx

Confidentiality and the Official Secrets Act

The post is covered by the Official Secrets Act. As a civil servant, you are bound by the provisions of criminal law, including the Official Secrets Act, which protect certain categories of official information, and by your duty of confidentiality owed to the Crown. Candidates must exercise care in the use of official information acquired in the course of official duties, and not disclose information which is held in confidence.

Conflicts of Interest

Candidates must declare any interests they may have that might cause questions to be raised about their approach to the business of the Department. They are required to declare any relevant business interests, share holdings, positions of authority, retainers, consultancy arrangements or other connections with commercial, public or voluntary bodies, both for themselves and for their spouses/partners. The successful candidate will be required to give up any conflicting interests and his/her other business and financial interests may be published. As a civil servant, you may not take part in any financial or non-financial activity which would could in any way conflict with the interests of the organisation or be inconsistent with your role. An actual, potential or perceived conflict of interest may arise where your impartiality in performing your official duties is called into question because you have an interest in an area affected by, or affecting, those official duties. Civil Servants should not receive benefits of any kind from a third party which might reasonably be seen to compromise their personal judgement or integrity.

Political Activity

As a Civil Servant, the political activity rules aim to give you the greatest possible freedom to take part in public affairs whilst making sure you do not compromise your official duties. These rules relate to activities where you might express your political views in public. They do not concern your private beliefs and opinions or stop you being a member of a political party.
